

Course title: All Work and No Play? Exploring Creativity in Doctors' Professional and Personal Development

Organization of the course: The first class (February 29) was delivered as scheduled. The second and third class are moved online. Facebook social learning group is created for the class (WUM Creativity 2020) where course materials, announcements and assignments are posted. Each class includes: an online session (meeting on Zoom.us), including online discussion and teleconference, live video, individual work (reading and watching) and creative exercises.

Credit: Participation in online exercises and discussion; presentation of own assignment; giving productive feedback to other students, applying information and experience gathered during previous sessions.
